

THE FARMING WORLD.

HOW TO SALT BUTTER.

To Avoid Mottling Is the Easiest Thing in the World.

Perhaps no one who has ever made butter can be better troubled with this at some time. The cause of the mottled condition which is frequently seen in butter is a discolored one, yet it is simple enough after all. As we all know, salt affects the color of butter. All butter takes on a deeper hue when it has been salted, and the same is true of butter from the churn, in a mass, salt it in streams by cutting through it with the ladle and scattering salt freely where the ladle went; let it stand half a day before working, and you will see a great improvement in the condition.

In few words, the explanation is this. Mottled butter is caused by uneven distribution of salt, nothing more or less. To avoid this the following plan is an excellent one and one which is followed by many of our best butter makers today: Leave the butter in granules, wash with cold water, drain, add a little hickory, drain and salt while still in the churn, then revolve the churn or dip from side to side until the butter globules mass somewhat and the salt is evenly distributed. By tipping the churn, the butter will turn over and may be very evenly sprinkled on, or a wooden fork of suitable size may be used to stir it up, adding only a portion of the salt at a time. The salt melts or dissolves the moment it touches the globules of butter, and the grain of salt instantly adheres to them. When the butter has drained a few minutes, remove it to the worker, press until moderately dry and pack away. No further working is necessary, and there will be no trace of streaks or a mottled condition. Salted butter from the churn is sure to be a favorite method with those who try it. The amount of butter can be very closely estimated, as the amount from a given quantity of cream does not vary materially from time to time. Nor is it essential to cut the butter in streams, as a mere cut of a pound of salt—usually a full pint of salt will weigh a pound, and it is more quickly measured than weighed each time. Some adhere very tenaciously to the oil way of twice working their butter, but there is great plenty of the salt is even more effective than the excess of moisture pressed out that is sufficient, and it can well be done at one operation at a time.—Hoard's Dairyman.

INCREASED MILK FLOW.

Can It Be Treated By Watering Cows Liberally? Often?

Regarding the above subject, there are records of carefully-conducted experiments which seem to indicate that when cows are under natural conditions the quantity of milk produced by them varies directly with the quantity of water taken, but by no means with perfect regularity. The most milk seems to fall on the days next after drinking most water. And the records show that the quality of the milk does not vary as much as the quantity in the sense that frequent drinking by cows, as where water is so provided that they may drink at will, also appears to increase the milk flow, even when the quantity of water thus taken is no greater than when offered and drunk once or twice a day. I know of no recent testing on induced lactation, though by common belief there are some in regard to the general effect of excessive quantities of salt, showing injurious results. I do not find anything among the authentic records which answers, one way or the other, the question whether the percentage of water in milk can be increased by inducing cows to drink an unusual quantity of water every day.—Henry E. Alvord, Chief Dairy Division, Department of Agriculture, in American Agriculturist.

TO STIMULATE THE MILK FLOW.

ORCHARD AND GARDEN.

Keep a close watch on your trees for the borers; a little carelessness in this may cost you a fine tree.

If you find a wormy bush with a reddish rust on the leaves, dip it up and burn it. If this is not done, the trouble will spread and ruin your patch.

A good mulch around the newly-set trees is the best thing to plenty of water in time of drought. Spread out three or four feet on each side of the tree.

The largest market is not always the best one. For an average grade of produce the consumers in a small town will often pay better prices than can be obtained in city markets.

Toads are no small help in ridding vineyards, bugs, beetles, and beetles from the vines and during the day, and at night they have a feast upon all sorts of insects which trouble the garden.

Decaying trees have been wonderful stimulants to healthy growth by digging out the hollows deep down the trunk of a tree, sweeping away the worms and filling the hollow thus made with fresh wood ashes.

Do not allow grass and weeds to grow among the small fruits. They take up the moisture and fertility from the ground, and will prevent the proper development of the young plants, on which you must depend for your next year's crop.—Lukas Wark.

GOLD STORAGE HOUSE.

How to Build One and How to Regulate Temperature.

The storage-room is set on a 12x12 inch wall and has an earth floor. The posts, sills, studs and joists are all of 2x10 inch lumber, the posts being 10 feet long and the joists 10 feet long. The room may be any length desired. As each end of a set of double doors made to fit close.

The side walls are sheathed with paper inside and out, and the paper cov- ered with jointed boards. The joists are laid across the under side, and the space between filled with sawdust. The cold climate eliminates the side walls should also be filled with the same.

The projecting roof is to prevent the sun from striking the storage-room.

COLD STORAGE HOUSE.

The side sheds under the roof are use- ful for storing empty barrels, crates, tools, etc.

A strong lattice door is provided to bind the inside solid door to lock up nights when ventilating. The elec- tric door being opened at both ends in num- ternal nights and when not too cold in winter. When the room is thus filled with cold air it is held in by the tight doors.

A dark room is preferable, if windows are put in they should be of double glass and have shutters over them.

On a well-drained sight the floor should be below the surface and an eight-inch sub-air duct run out several rods with an adjustable ventilator on the ceiling.

A room like that will maintain an equal temperature during the winter and cold weather, especial- ly during the winter months. It is called, and much less, heatless. It is the sudden and great changes in the temperature nights and days which are destructive to fruit. Ice-stored fruits held at low temperatures will not expose long in market and the storage is much more costly.

I have used this plan for many years and handled thousands of barrels. I store in barrels and repack when necessary.—Farm Journal.

NEW COW DISEASE.

In Many Instances Is Completely Rati- fied the Milk Flow.

From all quarters come the complaints that a new disease is making its appearance among the cows, affecting their teats and udders, and often completely stopping the flow of milk from the cow. The trouble is in the nature of a garget, but commences in an entirely different way. A small sore like a blister commences at the very end of the teat, and refuses to heal, closing the channel, and to get the milk it has to be cut open and the milk expressed.

The disease works its way up along the teat, getting more swollen and causing adhesions to the udder; the inflammatory stages are rapid, and all the troubles of a real case of garget are present; with this disadvantage, however, that the disease begins with the induction of the fever in the milk glands. All treatment seems to be of little avail, and the cow is ruined. While hot water and like treatment is valuable, it is too late to prevent the loss, and treatment must commence at the first appearance of the disease. Take one ounce of carbolic acid and mix with a few drops of glycerin. Mix this in ten ounces of sweet oil; and then with a small glass syringe inject some of it into the end of the teat at least three times a day, after the udder is cleaned the test will as well as can be done. This will be another of germ origin, and as the carbolic acid is death to germs, the trouble is arrested at the start. In some sections this disorder is very troublesome, and in our own stable one of our best cows has lost two quarters of her udder, despite our efforts to save her, not knowing at the time the character of the trouble or the remedy. When blisters form in the end of a cow's teat, do not delay, but use the carbolic acid at once.—Practical Farmer.

What Trees Do for Man.

A tree is a great boon to man. It is an educator. Its beauty of form, limb, bud, leaf and fruit; its never failing shade; its silent companion; its strength; its struggle from the tender plant to the mature and sturdy monarch of the forest—these have an educating, a refining influence upon all who come within their shadow. Trees are consecrated to man, and are the great laboratories of nature. Their leaves absorb the carbonic acid and give out the compensating oxygen. They are the best and most effective sanitary agents. No man can live among them without absorbing their health-giving and inspiring influences.—Rural World.

How to Keep Features Clean.

A few sheep on the farm are of decided assistance in maintaining clean pastures. When cattle are kept on the pasture they will not eat the weeds, and some of the coarser grasses as well unless starved into eating them, and then they will not eat them again to do, because it is an injury to the cattle.

When the pastures are eaten down pretty closely, a flock of sheep is turned in, about the first thing to be attacked is the weeds and coarse grasses that the cattle have left, and the work is done gradually, too, that the field is gradually cleared of this undesirable growth.—C. L. Herold.

Breeding Sheep for Profit.

The British authorities in India have been obliged to discontinue the hunt of deer snakes because the natives went into the jungles of breeding the snakes on large scale in order to earn the rewards paid for their dead bodies.—Chicago Tribune.

The root is the foundation on which future success depends. The art of flower and perfection of fruit proceeds from the root.

FLUTTER IN THE BALKANS.

Latin States That Have Great Hopes of the Future of Their Country.

The Balkans are the most turbulent region of Serbia and Montenegro, which has just been celebrated with becoming pomp and circumstance at Belgrade, and which included a grand military display, will not result in any increase in the power of Hungary, but the Balkans are the only part of Europe which is concerned in it, and the monarchy is concerned in it as infinitely preferable that the sovereignty of the minor Balkan states should be at peace with one another.

The Serbo-Bulgarian war compelled Austria to interfere. It was the intervention of the Austro-Hungarian legation that put an end to the hostilities. That experience was one which it is desirable to renew as seldom as possible. The aspirations referred to in the toast proposed by the prince of Montenegro at the banquet given by his honor, the minister of foreign affairs, outside the domain of practical politics. In the existing circumstances, Serbian unity cannot be anything but a vague ideal of which no trace is to be found in the intercourse of either Serbia or Montenegro with the Austrian-Hungarian government. The hope of greater independence is not a native, nor may not be realized in the course of centuries, but for the time being it is merely one of the many dreams that taunt the imagination of the Italian peoples.

All the royal family live in Phnom Penh, in a kind of mock palace—a rambling pile of thatch and mud.

On a well-drained sight the floor should be below the surface and an eight-inch sub-air duct run out several rods with an adjustable ventilator on the ceiling.

A room like that will maintain an equal temperature during the winter and cold weather, especially during the winter months. It is called, and much less, heatless. It is the sudden and great changes in the temperature nights and days which are destructive to fruit. Ice-stored fruits held at low temperatures will not expose long in market and the storage is much more costly.

I have used this plan for many years and handled thousands of barrels. I store in barrels and repack when necessary.—Farm Journal.

CHANGES IN HALF A CENTURY.

Striking Difference in Conditions Between Germany and the United States.

Here is a very curious incident which places the difference between the home life of Germany and America in startling contrast.

About 50 years ago, when Anton Weil was a boy, he secreted in the nith pair of pistols. They were valuable because they had been won by his father during the war of 1848. He was a member of the Prussian Guards, and it is unfortunate that, left neglected in a safe at home, it has become overgrown with jungle. On the pedestal there is an inscription which testifies that the statue was erected to Norodom by his "grateful nation." Norodom died at Buddha Hill, but none the less he cannot forget that for him the high living must have been a continual temptation. The king of Siam, in Phnom Penh, there are nearly 40 Siamese employed by the king in positions of more or less confidence, and I have it on authority which is beyond evil that the most intimate personal friends of the king and his wife are Englishmen, Americans, and that France is the language which the royal lips speak from choice.

King Norodom is a very much-married man, his establishment comprising at least 300 wives and concubines.

He has 50 sons and daughters who are recognized as his legitimate heirs. There are more than half as many, so that the succession, if ever the French permit him to have a successor, is well assured. King Norodom came to the throne in 1866, and the same year a statue in his honor was erected in Phnom Penh. It is an epitome of the magnificence of the Cambodian people.

About 10 years ago, when Anton Weil was a boy, he secreted in the nith pair of pistols. They were valuable because they had been won by his father during the war of 1848. He was a member of the Prussian Guards, and it is unfortunate that, left neglected in a safe at home, it has become overgrown with jungle. On the pedestal there is an inscription which testifies that the statue was erected to Norodom by his "grateful nation." Norodom died at Buddha Hill, but none the less he cannot forget that for him the high living must have been a continual temptation. The king of Siam, in Phnom Penh, there are nearly 40 Siamese employed by the king in positions of more or less confidence, and I have it on authority which is beyond evil that the most intimate personal friends of the king and his wife are Englishmen, Americans, and that France is the language which the royal lips speak from choice.

King Norodom is a very much-married man, his establishment comprising at least 300 wives and concubines. He has 50 sons and daughters who are recognized as his legitimate heirs. There are more than half as many, so that the succession, if ever the French permit him to have a successor, is well assured. King Norodom came to the throne in 1866, and the same year a statue in his honor was erected in Phnom Penh. It is an epitome of the magnificence of the Cambodian people.

About 10 years ago, when Anton Weil was a boy, he secreted in the nith pair of pistols. They were valuable because they had been won by his father during the war of 1848. He was a member of the Prussian Guards, and it is unfortunate that, left neglected in a safe at home, it has become overgrown with jungle. On the pedestal there is an inscription which testifies that the statue was erected to Norodom by his "grateful nation." Norodom died at Buddha Hill, but none the less he cannot forget that for him the high living must have been a continual temptation. The king of Siam, in Phnom Penh, there are nearly 40 Siamese employed by the king in positions of more or less confidence, and I have it on authority which is beyond evil that the most intimate personal friends of the king and his wife are Englishmen, Americans, and that France is the language which the royal lips speak from choice.

King Norodom is a very much-married man, his establishment comprising at least 300 wives and concubines. He has 50 sons and daughters who are recognized as his legitimate heirs. There are more than half as many, so that the succession, if ever the French permit him to have a successor, is well assured. King Norodom came to the throne in 1866, and the same year a statue in his honor was erected in Phnom Penh. It is an epitome of the magnificence of the Cambodian people.

About 10 years ago, when Anton Weil was a boy, he secreted in the nith pair of pistols. They were valuable because they had been won by his father during the war of 1848. He was a member of the Prussian Guards, and it is unfortunate that, left neglected in a safe at home, it has become overgrown with jungle. On the pedestal there is an inscription which testifies that the statue was erected to Norodom by his "grateful nation." Norodom died at Buddha Hill, but none the less he cannot forget that for him the high living must have been a continual temptation. The king of Siam, in Phnom Penh, there are nearly 40 Siamese employed by the king in positions of more or less confidence, and I have it on authority which is beyond evil that the most intimate personal friends of the king and his wife are Englishmen, Americans, and that France is the language which the royal lips speak from choice.

King Norodom is a very much-married man, his establishment comprising at least 300 wives and concubines. He has 50 sons and daughters who are recognized as his legitimate heirs. There are more than half as many, so that the succession, if ever the French permit him to have a successor, is well assured. King Norodom came to the throne in 1866, and the same year a statue in his honor was erected in Phnom Penh. It is an epitome of the magnificence of the Cambodian people.

About 10 years ago, when Anton Weil was a boy, he secreted in the nith pair of pistols. They were valuable because they had been won by his father during the war of 1848. He was a member of the Prussian Guards, and it is unfortunate that, left neglected in a safe at home, it has become overgrown with jungle. On the pedestal there is an inscription which testifies that the statue was erected to Norodom by his "grateful nation." Norodom died at Buddha Hill, but none the less he cannot forget that for him the high living must have been a continual temptation. The king of Siam, in Phnom Penh, there are nearly 40 Siamese employed by the king in positions of more or less confidence, and I have it on authority which is beyond evil that the most intimate personal friends of the king and his wife are Englishmen, Americans, and that France is the language which the royal lips speak from choice.

King Norodom is a very much-married man, his establishment comprising at least 300 wives and concubines. He has 50 sons and daughters who are recognized as his legitimate heirs. There are more than half as many, so that the succession, if ever the French permit him to have a successor, is well assured. King Norodom came to the throne in 1866, and the same year a statue in his honor was erected in Phnom Penh. It is an epitome of the magnificence of the Cambodian people.

About 10 years ago, when Anton Weil was a boy, he secreted in the nith pair of pistols. They were valuable because they had been won by his father during the war of 1848. He was a member of the Prussian Guards, and it is unfortunate that, left neglected in a safe at home, it has become overgrown with jungle. On the pedestal there is an inscription which testifies that the statue was erected to Norodom by his "grateful nation." Norodom died at Buddha Hill, but none the less he cannot forget that for him the high living must have been a continual temptation. The king of Siam, in Phnom Penh, there are nearly 40 Siamese employed by the king in positions of more or less confidence, and I have it on authority which is beyond evil that the most intimate personal friends of the king and his wife are Englishmen, Americans, and that France is the language which the royal lips speak from choice.

King Norodom is a very much-married man, his establishment comprising at least 300 wives and concubines. He has 50 sons and daughters who are recognized as his legitimate heirs. There are more than half as many, so that the succession, if ever the French permit him to have a successor, is well assured. King Norodom came to the throne in 1866, and the same year a statue in his honor was erected in Phnom Penh. It is an epitome of the magnificence of the Cambodian people.

About 10 years ago, when Anton Weil was a boy, he secreted in the nith pair of pistols. They were valuable because they had been won by his father during the war of 1848. He was a member of the Prussian Guards, and it is unfortunate that, left neglected in a safe at home, it has become overgrown with jungle. On the pedestal there is an inscription which testifies that the statue was erected to Norodom by his "grateful nation." Norodom died at Buddha Hill, but none the less he cannot forget that for him the high living must have been a continual temptation. The king of Siam, in Phnom Penh, there are nearly 40 Siamese employed by the king in positions of more or less confidence, and I have it on authority which is beyond evil that the most intimate personal friends of the king and his wife are Englishmen, Americans, and that France is the language which the royal lips speak from choice.

King Norodom is a very much-married man, his establishment comprising at least 300 wives and concubines. He has 50 sons and daughters who are recognized as his legitimate heirs. There are more than half as many, so that the succession, if ever the French permit him to have a successor, is well assured. King Norodom came to the throne in 1866, and the same year a statue in his honor was erected in Phnom Penh. It is an epitome of the magnificence of the Cambodian people.

About 10 years ago, when Anton Weil was a boy, he secreted in the nith pair of pistols. They were valuable because they had been won by his father during the war of 1848. He was a member of the Prussian Guards, and it is unfortunate that, left neglected in a safe at home, it has become overgrown with jungle. On the pedestal there is an inscription which testifies that the statue was erected to Norodom by his "grateful nation." Norodom died at Buddha Hill, but none the less he cannot forget that for him the high living must have been a continual temptation. The king of Siam, in Phnom Penh, there are nearly 40 Siamese employed by the king in positions of more or less confidence, and I have it on authority which is beyond evil that the most intimate personal friends of the king and his wife are Englishmen, Americans, and that France is the language which the royal lips speak from choice.

King Norodom is a very much-married man, his establishment comprising at least 300 wives and concubines. He has 50 sons and daughters who are recognized as his legitimate heirs. There are more than half as many, so that the succession, if ever the French permit him to have a successor, is well assured. King Norodom came to the throne in 1866, and the same year a statue in his honor was erected in Phnom Penh. It is an epitome of the magnificence of the Cambodian people.

About 10 years ago, when Anton Weil was a boy, he secreted in the nith pair of pistols. They were valuable because they had been won by his father during the war of 1848. He was a member of the Prussian Guards, and it is unfortunate that, left neglected in a safe at home, it has become overgrown with jungle. On the pedestal there is an inscription which testifies that the statue was erected to Norodom by his "grateful nation." Norodom died at Buddha Hill, but none the less he cannot forget that for him the high living must have been a continual temptation. The king of Siam, in Phnom Penh, there are nearly 40 Siamese employed by the king in positions of more or less confidence, and I have it on authority which is beyond evil that the most intimate personal friends of the king and his wife are Englishmen, Americans, and that France is the language which the royal lips speak from choice.

King Norodom is a very much-married man, his establishment comprising at least 300 wives and concubines. He has 50 sons and daughters who are recognized as his legitimate heirs. There are more than half as many, so that the succession, if ever the French permit him to have a successor, is well assured. King Norodom came to the throne in 1866, and the same year a statue in his honor was erected in Phnom Penh. It is an epitome of the magnificence of the Cambodian people.

About 10 years ago, when Anton Weil was a boy, he secreted in the nith pair of pistols. They were valuable because they had been won by his father during the war of 1848. He was a member of the Prussian Guards, and it is unfortunate that, left neglected in a safe at home, it has become overgrown with jungle. On the pedestal there is an inscription which testifies that the statue was erected to Norodom by his "grateful nation." Norodom died at Buddha Hill, but none the less he cannot forget that for him the high living must have been a continual temptation. The king of Siam, in Phnom Penh, there are nearly 40 Siamese employed by the king in positions of more or less confidence, and I have it on authority which is beyond evil that the most intimate personal friends of the king and his wife are Englishmen, Americans, and that France is the language which the royal lips speak from choice.

King Norodom is a very much-married man, his establishment comprising at least 300 wives and concubines. He has 50 sons and daughters who are recognized as his legitimate heirs. There are more than half as many, so that the succession, if ever the French permit him to have a successor, is well assured. King Norodom came to the throne in 1866, and the same year a statue in his honor was erected in Phnom Penh. It is an epitome of the magnificence of the Cambodian people.

About 10 years ago, when Anton Weil was a boy, he secreted in the nith pair of pistols. They were valuable because they had been won by his father during the war of 1848. He was a member of the Prussian Guards, and it is unfortunate that, left neglected in a safe at home, it has become overgrown with jungle. On the pedestal there is an inscription which testifies that the statue was erected to Norodom by his "grateful nation." Norodom died at Buddha Hill, but none the less he cannot forget that for him the high living must have been a continual temptation. The king of Siam, in Phnom Penh, there are nearly 40 Siamese employed by the king in positions of more or less confidence, and I have it on authority which is beyond evil that the most intimate personal friends of the king and his wife are Englishmen, Americans, and that France is the language which the royal lips speak from choice.

King Norodom is a very much-married man, his establishment comprising at least 300 wives and concubines. He has 50 sons and daughters who are recognized as his legitimate heirs. There are more than half as many, so that the succession, if ever the French permit him to have a successor, is well assured. King Norodom came to the throne in 1866, and the same year a statue in his honor was erected in Phnom Penh. It is an epitome of the magnificence of the Cambodian people.

About 10 years ago, when Anton Weil was a boy, he secreted in the nith pair of pistols. They were valuable because they had been won by his father during the war of 1848. He was a member of the Prussian Guards, and it is unfortunate that, left neglected in a safe at home, it has become overgrown with jungle. On the pedestal there is an inscription which testifies that the statue was erected to Norodom by his "grateful nation." Norodom died at Buddha Hill, but none the less he cannot forget that for him the high living must have been a continual temptation. The king of Siam, in Phnom Penh, there are nearly 40 Siamese employed by the king in positions of more or less confidence, and I have it on authority which is beyond evil that the most intimate personal friends of the king and his wife are Englishmen, Americans, and that France is the language which the royal lips speak from choice.

King Norodom is a very much-married man, his establishment comprising at least 300 wives and concubines. He has 50 sons and daughters who are recognized as his legitimate heirs. There are more than half as many, so that the succession, if ever the French permit him to have a successor, is well assured. King Norodom came to the throne in 1866, and the same year a statue in his honor was erected in Phnom Penh. It is an epitome of the magnificence of the Cambodian people.

About 10 years ago, when Anton Weil was a boy, he secreted in the nith pair of pistols. They were valuable because they had been won by his father during the war of 1848. He was a member of the Prussian Guards, and it is unfortunate that, left neglected in a safe at home, it has become overgrown with jungle. On the pedestal there is an inscription which testifies that the statue was erected to Norodom by his "grateful nation." Norodom died at Buddha Hill, but none the less he cannot forget that for him the high living must have been a continual temptation. The king of Siam, in Phnom Penh, there are nearly 40 Siamese employed by the king in positions of more or less confidence, and I have it on authority which is beyond evil that the most intimate personal friends of the king and his wife are Englishmen, Americans, and that France is the language which the royal lips speak from choice.

King Norodom is a very much-married man, his establishment comprising at least 300 wives and concubines. He has 50 sons and daughters who are recognized as his legitimate heirs. There are more than half as many, so that the succession, if ever the French permit him to have a successor, is well assured. King Norodom came to the throne in 1866, and the same year a statue in his honor was erected in Phnom Penh. It is an epitome of the magnificence of the Cambodian people.

About 10 years ago, when Anton Weil was a boy, he secreted in the nith pair of pistols. They were valuable because they had been won by his father during the war of 1848. He was a member of the Prussian Guards, and it is unfortunate that, left neglected in a safe at home, it has become overgrown with jungle. On the pedestal there is an inscription which testifies that the statue was erected to Norodom by his "grateful nation." Norodom died at Buddha Hill, but none the less he cannot forget that for him the high living must have been a continual temptation. The king of Siam, in Phnom Penh, there are nearly 40 Siamese employed by the king in positions of more or less confidence, and I have it on authority which is beyond evil that the most intimate personal friends of the king and his wife are Englishmen, Americans, and that France is the language which the royal lips speak from choice.

King Norodom is a very much-married man, his establishment comprising at least 300 wives and concubines. He has 50 sons and daughters who are recognized as his legitimate heirs. There are more than half as many, so that the succession, if ever the French permit him to have a successor, is well assured. King Norodom came to the throne in 1866, and the same year a statue in his honor was erected in Phnom Penh. It is an epitome of the magnificence of the Cambodian people.

About 10 years ago, when Anton Weil was a boy, he secreted in the nith pair of pistols. They were valuable because they had been won by his father during the war of 1848. He was a member of the Prussian Guards, and it is unfortunate that, left neglected in a safe at home, it has become overgrown with jungle. On the pedestal there is an inscription which testifies that the statue was erected to Norodom by his "grateful nation." Norodom died at Buddha Hill, but none the less he cannot forget that for him the high living must have been a continual temptation. The king of Siam, in Phnom Penh, there are nearly 40 Siamese employed by the king in positions of more or less confidence, and I have it on authority which is beyond evil that the most intimate personal friends of the king and his wife are Englishmen, Americans, and that France is the language which the royal lips speak from choice.

King Norodom is a very much-married man, his establishment comprising at least 300 wives and concubines. He has 50 sons and daughters who are recognized as his legitimate heirs. There are more than half as many, so that the succession, if ever the French permit him to have a successor, is well assured. King Norodom came to the throne in 1866, and the same year a statue in his honor was erected in Phnom Penh. It is an epitome of the magnificence of the Cambodian people.

About 10 years ago, when Anton Weil was a boy, he secreted in the nith pair of pistols. They were valuable because they had been won by his father during the war of 1848. He was a member of the Prussian Guards, and it is unfortunate that, left neglected in a safe at home, it has become overgrown with jungle. On the pedestal there is an inscription which testifies that the statue was erected to Norodom by his "grateful nation." Norodom died at Buddha Hill, but none the less he cannot forget that for him the high living must have been a continual temptation. The king of Siam, in Phnom Penh, there are nearly 40 Siamese employed by the king in positions of more or less confidence, and I have it on authority which is beyond evil that the most intimate personal friends of the king and his wife are Englishmen, Americans, and that France is the language which the royal lips speak from choice.

King Norodom is a very much-married man, his establishment comprising at least 300 wives and concubines. He has 50 sons and daughters who are recognized as his legitimate heirs. There are more than half as many, so that the succession, if ever the French permit him to have a successor, is well assured. King Norodom came to the throne in 1866, and the same year a statue in his honor was erected in Phnom Penh. It is an epitome of the magnificence of the Cambodian people.

About 10 years ago, when Anton Weil was a boy, he secreted in the nith pair of pistols. They were valuable because they had been won by his father during the war of 1848. He was a member of the Prussian Guards, and it is unfortunate that, left neglected in a safe at home, it has become overgrown with jungle. On the pedestal there is an inscription which testifies that the statue was erected to Norodom by his "grateful nation." Norodom died at Buddha Hill, but none the less he cannot forget that for him the high living must have been a continual temptation. The king of Siam, in Phnom Penh, there are nearly 40 Siamese employed by the king in positions of more or less confidence, and I have it on authority which is beyond evil that the most intimate personal friends of the king and his wife are Englishmen, Americans, and that France is the language which the royal lips speak from choice.

King Norodom is a very much-married man, his establishment comprising at least 300 wives and concubines. He has 50 sons and daughters who are recognized as his legitimate heirs. There are more than half as many, so that the succession, if ever the French permit him to have a successor, is well assured. King Norodom came to the throne in 1866, and the same year a statue in his honor was erected in Phnom Penh. It is an epitome of the magnificence of the Cambodian people.

About 10 years ago, when Anton Weil was a boy, he secreted in the nith pair of pistols. They were valuable because they had been won by his father during the war of 1848. He was a member of the Prussian Guards, and it is unfortunate that, left neglected in a safe at home, it has become overgrown with jungle. On the pedestal there is an inscription which testifies that the statue was erected to Norodom by his "grateful nation." Norodom died at Buddha Hill, but none the less he cannot forget that for him the high living must have been a continual temptation. The king of Siam, in Phnom Penh, there are nearly 40 Siamese employed by the king in positions of more or less confidence, and I have it on authority which is beyond evil that the most intimate personal friends of the king and his wife are Englishmen, Americans, and that France is the language which the royal lips speak from choice.

King Norodom is a very much-married man, his establishment comprising at least 300 wives and concubines. He has 50 sons and daughters who are recognized as his legitimate heirs. There are more than half as many, so that the succession, if ever the French permit him to have a successor, is well assured. King Norodom came to the throne in 1866, and the same year a statue in his honor was erected in Phnom Penh. It is an epitome of the magnificence of the Cambodian people.

About 10 years ago, when Anton Weil was a boy,

IN WASHINGTON

Li Hung Chang Sees the Sights in the Nation's Capital.

He Takes a Trip to the Top of the Washington Monument.

Calls on Secretary Carlisle at His Residence—Leaves His Card at the Residence of Secretary Lamont and Gen. Miles—Dines With Foster.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—After transacting a certain amount of business and partaking of an elaborate Chinese luncheon at the Chinese restaurant in Fisher's, the great Li Hung Chang retired tardily to the hotel, where all the suite and his United States army escort were awaiting him. They disappeared until 3 o'clock, when he had an appointment to go to, when he had the Washington monument.

At that hour Maj. Gen. Miles, Gen.
Beck, Gen. Rugge, Gen. Greeley and others called to pay their respects. The vice-roy was in his room, where he was seated when the general and him he had served with Grant, the vice-roy became deeply interested and asked numerous questions about Grant's army life. After this interview ex-secretary of state Foster, Dr. Foster, Lord Li, and Dr. Stark to call on Secretary Carlisle at the latter's residence. The visit turned out to be the most important, it resulted in the complete demolition of the afternoon's program.

The vice-roy spent over an hour in a discussion of finance and tariff with the secretary. He was amazed with the secretary's knowledge of the Chinese systems and the firm grasp and clear perception he had of the subjects he had presented China's chief thinkers. When the discussion had continued until half past four o'clock, the vice-roy drove to Secretary Lamont's, where he left his card, repeating this courtesy at the residence of Gen. Miles and Secretary Francis.

At 7 o'clock he sat down to an elaborate dinner, tenured by Secretary Foster.

During the evening the vice-roy and his suite were entertained.

His Excellency Li Ching Fung (first son of the vice-roy), secretary to Lo Feng Luh; Li Ching Sou (second son of the vice-roy); Dr. Irwin and Dr.
Mark, medical doctors; the Chinese ambassador; Vice-Yang; the Chinese secretary; San Romero; Secretary Carlisle, Secretary Lamont, Secretary Francis, Justice Harlan, Gov. Louwens of Maryland; Gen. Miles, Gen. Ruger; As-stistant Secretary Rockhill; Mr. E. G.
Brewer, Gen. James H. Wilson, Gen. New York; Dr. W. W. Johnston, of Washington.

During the repast the United States Marine band, under special orders from the navy department, gave a serenade.

At the conclusion of the dinner Gen.
Foster made a few remarks to which Li Hung Chang responded through his interpreter, in written speech. He said:

"Since the establishment of our treaty relations there have always been evidences of good friendship between our two countries, but during the past year we have seen evidences of the cordiality and warmth displayed by the American government and citizens toward us. This is due to a special mission. Though I regret my time does not allow me to make a full report, I will say that the purpose of the mission is to accomplish fully the accomplishment and progress of the United States in the Far East, and during my brief visit here to be struck and impressed by the liberty and freedom enjoyed by the Chinese people, especially in their commercial and industrial pursuits. The character of their character and commercial pursuits, by the characteristics of their classical literature, by the manner of application of the scientific discoveries and inventions for practical purposes, and by the display of their artistic taste in the architecture of the public buildings, sculpture, and painting, and in the fine arts, for which my old friend, J. W. Foster, has been kind enough to show me."

The vice-roy said he will return home only as augmentations to my knowledge of the points of western modern civilization, and that he will bring back to China representations and inciting the introduction of those very many and ends of civilization which are now in vogue in the most advanced civilization of the east, with the most modern of the current west."

"Gentlemen, I will now proceed in concluding, 'I propose the toast to the friend of China, Hon. J. W. Foster.'

The vice-roy, which began at 6:30, closed at 9 o'clock. Li Hung Chang remained until 9:15 conversing with those present.

His programme for Saturday includes a visit to the money vaults of the treasury and to the executive departments generally and to the Washington municipalities.

At 5 o'clock a trip to Mt. Vernon is in order. He has ordered a magnificent floral piece to be placed on Washington's tomb.

THE CARLISTS

In the Spanish Senate and Chamber of Deputies Withdraw From Those Houses.

MADRID, Sept. 5.—The Carlist members of the senate and chamber of deputies have withdrawn from parliament as a mark of their disapproval of the passage of the bill of rights, rather than the bill itself. This action of the senators and deputies has caused great anxiety among the moderates and members of the royal family. The masses of the people, however, have voted to withdraw from the hitherto senior party, a member of the chamber of deputies said Friday that the direction of the Carlist party would soon pass into the hands of military leaders who had organized a perfect organization and already take advantage of the first favorable occasion that presents itself.

George W. Roberts Executed.

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—Geo. W.
Roberts was hanged at Folsom prison Friday morning for cutting the throat of Walter Freeman during a bar-room quarrel in April last.

Walter H. English for Coopers.

VALLERO, Cal., Sept. 5.—The democratic candidate for the congressional district of Yerba-nominated Warren B. English, of Oakland, for congress.

MEMORIAL BUILDING

To Participate in the History of the Southern Confederacy and Deeds of Southern Bravery.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 8.—The movement inaugurated by Charles Broadway House, of New York, to perpetuate the history of the southern confederacy and the deeds of southern bravery by erecting a magnificent memorial building, was promoted by the action of the board of trustees, whose first session was brought to a close on Friday night on Lookout mountain. Corporate subscriptions will be given the movement by a charter obtained in Mississippi for the Confederate Memorial association. The idea of a battle abbey has been abandoned as impractical, a suitable site having been selected will be called the Confederate Memorial institute. The board of trustees will be organized by a special convention in Mississippi.

New York, Sept. 5.—R. G. Dun & Co.
says Saturday in their weekly review of failures:

The Heavy Imports of Gold Create
an Increase of Confidence.

TRADE REVIEW.

Failures in the United States During the Week 334.

The Heavy Imports of Gold Create
an Increase of Confidence.

Corn, at Chicago, Reaches the Lowest Point Ever Touched—One-Cent Advance in the Price of Wheat—Spikes for Iron Have Advanced a Shade.

New York, Sept. 5.—R. G. Dun & Co.
says Saturday in their weekly review of
failures:

Failures have been for the week 334 in the United States against 186 last year, and 81 in Canada against 38 last year.

There is a distinct increase of confidence, due largely to the continuing and heavy imports of gold, which have put an end to monetary anxiety and are political events which are closely watched. While it does not yet manifest itself in the market, it is closing for want of work, it drops on heavy speculative purchases of pig iron, wool and some other materials by experienced men who believe that a revival of business is not far off. The market has shown a slight upward turn in prices of manufactured products.

Wheat has suddenly risen a week ago but with better crop news and another rise another a shade. The market is making the best decline for the week 1 cent. Western refined continued large.

Corn has reached, at Chicago, the lowest point ever touched, 29 cents, in which, and has again broken all records since, declining to 25 cents, at which it closed.

Cotton will fall to 75 cents, but with reservation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more active than some weeks ago. Imported cotton is still very wide apart. The New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago
at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000 bales. All
grades are up.

Batting will fall to 75 cents, but with re-
servation of confidence rose to 80 cents
although the market is scarcely more
active than some weeks ago. Imported
cotton is still very wide apart. The
New Orleans exchange puts the last
crop at 7,157,340 bales, whereas official
and unoffered publications put it a year ago at 6,000,000 to 6,500,000

